Now click on "Temporary Access" and within a few seconds you should see the code. Please print that screen.

The screenshot shows a web interface for a course titled "Triola Essentials of Statistics 4e". The user is logged in as "Hello, Roger Carpenter". The page is titled "Temporary Access" and contains the following text:

The code below will allow you temporary access to your assignments and course materials. You will be permitted temporary access for the first twenty-one days of your course.

At the end of that time, you will be prompted again for a new access code. You will need to purchase your access code with your book from the bookstore and enter the code that you purchased at that time.

Your Temporary Access Code:
MLPTMP-KAROO-CERIC-BAJAN-GABBY-LUTES

The left sidebar menu includes: Dashboard, Course Home (with a sub-menu where "Temporary Access" is circled in red), Homework, Quizzes & Tests, Study Plan, Gradebook, StatCrunch, and Chapter Contents.

After you print the above page you should click on homework and you will be prompted for the access code.
